AUSTIN TELLS WHY HE KILLED DAVIS

Claims He Carried Gun For His Own Protection

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Alleges That Davis Had Alienated His Wife's Affections and Brought About Separation.

Manassas, Va., May 6.—Karl J. Austin, the cripple who shot and killed J. R. B. Davis on the main street of Manassas Monday night, was given a preliminary hearing yesterday before Justice S. M. Haislip, and was committed to the county jail, without bail, to await the action of the grand jury.

The bitter feeling existing between Austin and Davis, which brought on the action, had its beginning almost a year ago, when, Austin claims, Davis alienated the affections of his wife, wrecked his home and caused a separation of himself and wife. Mrs. Austin went to Washington and made her home with her sister, secured employment and has supported herself and baby since that time. She has upon numerous occasions asked to return to her home, but Austin forbade her doing so, fearing a renewal of the alleged relationship between her and Davis.

He had, however, visited his wife in Washington Sunday and almost reached a reconciliation and, according to his statement, approached Davis, Monday night, on the question of leaving Manassas, which Davis had previously agreed to do.

This brought on the quarrel which ended in the murder, it is claimed. Austin yesterday received a letter from his wife, pleading to be permitted to come to him and render what comfort she is able to give, and assured him she will stand by him. He gave his consent for her to come, and she is expected to arrive today.

Austin was married to Miss Virginia Williams, who lived with her mother on a farm near Manassas, October 1, 1913. Early in their married life they took into their home a little girl, Christine, from the Children's Aid Society at Baltimore, but after the home was broken up the child was sent back to the society.

When asked if he cared to make a statement for publication, Austin hesitated, then said:

"I dislike to discuss the affair in detail because of my wife, but I suppose it must come out. To begin with he alienated my wife. She was true to me until she met Bailey Davis.

"Then the smash came and Mrs. Austin went to Washington where she secured employment and where she has worked and supported herself and baby since. She has been a good woman since our separation, although Bailey has made attempts to see her."

Asked what precipitated the quarrel Monday night, Austin continued his statement by saying, "Bailey had promised me that he would sell out and leave Manassas, and when I heard a short time ago that he contemplated buying property and remaining, I decided to speak to him. When I met him Monday night, I asked him what his plans for the future were and he seemed to get mad and answered, 'What do you mean, I don't understand you.'

"I reminded him of his promise to leave town, and he began to curse and abuse me, and said that if I did not like it here I could get out. He was very angry and said that I told him that I would secure a divorce from my wife.

"I tald him that was none of his affair. He seemed to lose his head completely and called me a vile and vicious name and started toward me in a threatening attitude and was right on me when I drew my revolver and fired.

"I realized, in my condition, I could neither fight nor run, and I thought that I should not have to take a beating. There is one thing I want distinctly understood, and that is, I did not carry a revolver for Bailey. I have carried one ever since my father died several years ago, for my own protection.

"In my crippled condition I frequently had to call upon someone to lift me either onto or off the sidewalks. Sometimes strangers; and as I sometimes carried sums of money with me, I felt that I needed the gun for protection. Aside from the threatened bodily harm to myself, Mrs. Austin is still my wife and I think I had a right to protect her."

ALL READY FOR DOLLAR DAY SALE

Biggest Sale Day of the Year is Scheduled For Next Wednesday, May 12

MERCHANTS ENTHUSE

Shoppers Will Find Bigger and Better Bargains Than Have Ever Before Been Offered

The greatest bargain feast of the year, Dollar Day, is slated to put in its second appearance of 1920 next Wednesday, when the many stores of the city will make special efforts to entertain the Dollar Shoppers and a bigger and better sale than was ever held before in Alexandria is promised.

Realizing the value of these Dollar Sales, the merchants of the city, at the last regular meeting of the Retail Merchants Bureau of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce voted in favor of four such sales every year. The second Wednesday in May, or May 12 was decided upon and next Wednesday is the day.

Dollar Day Sales were inaugurated last August and celerity with which the shopping public of Alexandria entered into the spirit of the occasion surprised even the most skeptical of local merchants. The second sale was held in February, 1920, and the success was even greater than experienced the six months previous.

Four Dollar Day sales are slated to be held this year, February, May, August and November and prospects are that each sale will show a greater percentage of business done than previous sales.

The Dollar Bargain is hard to find at the present market prices of merchandise, but every merchant of the city is endeavoring to find at least a few such bargains for this big day.

Don't forget the date, Wednesday, May 12 and be on hand bright and early when the stores open for business on that day.

MOORE ATTACKS SOLDIERS' BONUS

Says Relief Plan is Unfair to People at This Time

OPPOSITION GROWING

Strongest Advocates Doubt Passage of Measure Now, And Are Called "Political Profiteers"

Opposition to any form of soldier relief broke out with unexpected strength during general debates in the House yesterday. Indications are that as a result of the flood of protests against increased taxation, the opponents of the bonus are gaining in numbers rapidly every day.

Representatives Ackerman (Rep.), of New Jersey; Sisson (Dem.), of Mississipi, and Moore (Dem.), of Virginia, came out with bitter attacks against any bonus at this time. All pointed out that serious consequences to the country might arise. Representative Wood (Rep.), of Indiana, strongly opposed the land settlement features of the measure recently given tentative approval by the ways and means committee, declaring that it was nothing more than an attempt to put over a huge reclamation project under the guise of soldier relief.

At present, no one is pressing action on the bonus question, and it is probable that the revised bill may not be reported before the recess for the political conventions. Some of the strongest bonus advocates now are beginning to doubt if any bill can be passed.

Mr. Moore in his speech attacked those advocating the bonus for political advantage as "political profiteers."

"I see nothing in the measure to commend it, and I cannot give it my support," he said. 'Believing it to be against the public interest—the entire public, but primarily the ex-service men—if I were to support the measure to gain some personal advantage or keep silence for that purpose, I would be nothing more than a political profiteer.

"If this measure should be adopted no member of this House, whether leader or follower, should ever stand here again and advocate economy and reduction of taxes. The leader of the majority will be estopped to do so, and the estoppel will apply to all of us. We will only be able to claim feebly that we are for such a policy when it happens to be along the line of least resistance."

A GOOD MOVEMENT

Careless individuals who throw bundle wrappings, newspapers, bale wire or other trash in the street will, in future be remonstrated with by the Richmond police. Those who persist in littering up the city will be dealt with later, after every effort has been made to convert the averag individual and enlist his or her aid in keeping the city clean. Director Public Safety Myers has supplied added incentive by announcing that a public spirited citizen had offered a prize of $500 to the officer maintaining the cleanest beat. The first prize will be awarded during State Fair Week, and $500 will be given each year thereafter.

No prizes have been offered the policemen of Alexandria for performing their duty, but the above should be a sufficient hint to such to take action in this matter. We have laws which forbid any one to cast trash, etc., on the streets. Occasionally offenders are brought into the Police Court to answer the charge of placing a pile of rubbish in the street, but the law, if enforced, should bring to the bar those who thoughtlessly cast paper, fruit peelings and other refuse matter on the streets or sidewalks. Banana rinds are common objects upon our sidewalks, which are not only unsightly, but dangerous to pedestrians

TRUTH AND FICTION

Wilkie Collins in his popular novel, "The Moonstone," presents a character when he calls "Gabriel Betteredge." Gabriel is represented as having read but one book throughout his long life. This was "Robinson Crusoe." It was his classic and inspiration to him. He drew all his knowledge and spirituality from this production of Defoe, and in every emergency of life found comforting words from this book.

The late William S. Lloyd, of Philadelphia, whose activities have been many over more than a generation, was singular in his habits. He was known the world over among literary devotees for his collection of editions of Robinson Crusoe, amounting to more than 400 volumes His literary tastes were broad and it was only by accident that he became a De Foe specialist, but once started he combed the world for editions in every language and had secured the most representative collection extant.

FORTY-CENT STRAWBERRIES

Forty-cent strawberries may be with us all summer.

Growers claim that labor is scarce and even when available is high priced and therefore this increased cost must be borne by those who love strawberries.

Considering the crop of home grown berries, the dealers declare, housewives will in all probability have to pay winter prices for summer berries. This is because of killing frosts and the high cost of picking. In the good old days men and women were content to receive $1.50 a day for picking berries. Then they often sold at 5 cents per quart. But today these same folks can earn $4 to $5 a day in the city and the strawberry crop has to struggle along the best it can.

LIGHTNING STRIKES CAR

Cumberland, Md., May 6.—William Dunlap, of Somerset, and James, his 10 year old brother, were seriously injured and the automobile in which they were riding was wrecked yesterday near the Maryland State line when the machine was struck by lightning.

They were on their way to Cumberland. William Dunlap's right eye was torn out, and the brother suffered severe cuts and bruises. The glass windshield was also shattered.

SHE FEELS FINE NOW.

Aches and pains often indicated kidneys out of order. Your kidneys surely need help—and quickly—when your hands or feet are swollen and you feel dull and sluggish, lose your appetite and your energy and there is a puffy look under the eyes. Mrs. L. Gibson, 12th and Edison St., LaJunta, Colo., writes: "My kidneys were giving me a great deal of trouble for some time. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me right away. I feel fine now."

URGES GENERAL CLEAN UP

State Health Commissioner Thinks Every City and Town Should Enter Campaign

Richmond, Va., May 6.—State Health Commissioner, Emmon G. Williams today, in a statement to the State press, declared that he had been much gratified by reports reaching the State Board of Health of the number of towns and villages planning or engaging in clean up campaigns. Dr. Williams believes that every community, whether incorporated or not, should immediately develop and carry out plans for a genuine house cleaning, accompanying such a campaign by a wholesale distribution of literature on disease prevention measures and improvements of sanitary arrangements.

Reports reaching the State Board from communities which have conducted health campaigns on the county unit plan, as well as those working in co-operation with county health demonstrators, indicate prompt and beneficial results in reducing the incidence of disease and lowering the death rate from preventable causes.

The State Board has literature ready for distribution in cooperation with local authorities, civic and welfare associations and will, as far as the limits of its "man power" permit, send speakers to discuss health measures with interested citizens.

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

Col. H. W. Anderson of Richmond Addresses Business Men's Conference

New York, May 6.—Business men of the United States desire better co-operation between the government and industries, rather than new legislation tending to stifle initiative and prevent investment of capital, in the opinion of representatives of the leading industries of the country meeting here yesterday.

Fifty-five committeemen from twenty-seven States, comprising the platform committee of the National Association of Manufacturers of the United States, met at the Waldorf-Astoria to draw up recommendations for presentation to the two major political parties.

Col. Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, Va., said there was less personal liberty in the United States today than in Russia under the Czar.

"We didn't establish the government to run our business," Anderson said, "but to keep the tracks clear and to allow us to run it. American business men should be considered honest until they are proved guilty. The opposite seems to be the custom today."

ATTEMPTED MURDER

Two Men Fire on Lawyer Who Appeared Against Goldman and Berkman

New York, May 6.—An attempt to assassinate Capt. Harold Content, former assistant United States attorney, who prosecuted Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, deported anarchists, was made last Saturday night, it became known last night. Four shots were fired at him from the shelter of a work bridge in front of a building in the course of construction as he neared his home.

None of the shots took effect. The two men who fired them escaped before aid could arrive. Capt. Content, who served with the Twenty-ninth division in France, is home from wounds received in action and could not stop his assailants.

New Figures
On Tire Mileage

The Miller Tire makers, in late years, have nearly doubled their tire mileage.

In their factory tests made last year no rival tire could match the Miller service.

Miller treads outwore all rivals by an average of 25 per cent.

Large tire users are making million-mile comparisons. As high as 20 rival makes are compared with Millers. Miller Tires have already won many of these tests.

Large Miller dealers, making careful comparisons, find that Miller Tires increase their customers' mileage from 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

It is time to get new figures on tire mileage. Try a Miller, watch the mileage, compare it with the tire that you use opposite.

Hundreds of thousands have in this way come to Miller Tires. And Millers are today the most talked-about tires in America.

CENSOR NEWS, IS CHARGE

E. J. McCone Tells Senators Shop Chapels Are Big Dailies

Washington, May 6.—E. J. McCone, of the Buffalo Commercial, testifying yesterday before the Senate newsprint paper investigating committee, declared that the International Typographical Union through its shop chapels exercised a censorship over the news columns of all except four newspapers of the country. The chapel foreman, he testified, is charged with keeping out of print stories unfavorable to organized labor.

Asked by Chairman Reed to give specific instances where such a censorship had been exercised, Mr. McCone declared that when Judge Elbert Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, testified before a Senate committee investigating the steel strike regarding the principal of freedom of contract the Buffalo News received and set in type and cast into plate an Associated Press news dispatch of his testimony but the presses were not permitted to start until changes had been made in the article.

Mr. McCone said the New York Times and the Buffalo Commercial were the only newspapers in the eastern part of the United States that carried the story as sent by the Associated Press. The witness added that his paper, The Commercial was operated on a "decidedly nonunion" basis.

Mr. McCone asserted that all members of the Typographical Union were forced to take an oath, which he said was "decidedly unAmerican." He said the principal paragraph of this oath declared that members of the union should place "fidelity to my union, and its members above any other obligation, social, political, religious, fraternal or otherwise."

"They are forced to place their fidelity to the union above the church, and the nation," the witness said.

DO IT NOW

Look well ahead and while Health's vigor owes
Its joys to gild the Life man daily lives;
Forestall the Future, and Insure your Life;
Each day more dear to children and the Wife.
If morbid Fancis bids you plead delay
Now, "Do-it now," and Wisdom's Voice obey.
Some Self-denial maybe it will take
Urged though, by Love, you'll do it for Love's sake
Regrets come not, for Conscience sets its seal.
And Deeds, not Words, prove Life's affections real.
Now cares are lessened, and with quiet Content,
Calmly you face whatever fate is sent;
Evening steals on—the Evening Tide of Life,
All's well with you, the children and the wife.

FACING MURDER CHARGE

Wilson H. Brokaw, Charged With Death of Wife Enters Plea of Not Guilty

Norfolk, Va., May 6.—Wilson H. Brokaw, sixty-six years old, of Chicago Ill., went on trial in the Federal court here yesterday, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Wilda Brokaw, at Camp Eustis, Va., January 6, last.

The crime is alleged by the government to have been committed with a hatchet.

Brokaw has never, at any time since the hearing, admitted any part in the crime. He has maintained and air of innocence. He pleaded "not guilty" yesterday in a detached way and appeared to take little interest in the progress of his trial.

The thing that every tire buyer—for big car or small—is trying to buy, is mileage economy. And the one way to produce it is scientific manufacturing.

That means quantity buying, quantity production and quantity selling — always the Firestone way to better tire values at low cost.
